

Govern like a girl ... leading sport into the future

It is an exciting time for sport in New Zealand and particularly for women in sport. We are seeing moves to pay equity, better media coverage and gender equal boards. There are ambitious plans being set for the future.

We invite you to join us for breakfast and a panel discussion to explore this future. Cricket Wellington is delighted to be partnering with Simpson Grierson to host this event.

We invite all women involved in sport governance and management to join us and hear the different perspectives of our panel; the Hon Grant Robertson, Minister for Sport and Recreation; Liz Dawson, professional director, New Zealand Cricket and New Zealand Olympic Committee board member; and Dr Chelsea Grootveld, Future Directors intern at SportNZ.

They will be discussing sport in New Zealand, the challenges and opportunities they see on the horizon and why “governing like a girl...” is critical for the future of sport and recreation in this country.

Breakfast will be served on arrival at 7.30am. The panel discussion will start at 7.40am, with time for questions at the finish.

Numbers are limited, please RSVP to SG.events@simpsongrierson.com. Please forward this to your networks and women you think would be interested.
